and That in - -
OUR TOWN

Leftovers—
Following are a few of the interesting notes left over from the 1948 encampment of the Michigan National Guard at Grayling.

From an original grant of only 27,000 acres in 1913, Camp Grayling has grown until today the reservation includes some 76,000 acres located in four counties of Michigan's northern lower peninsula. Rasmus Hanson gave the State Military establishment the first land for use as a training area for the Michigan National Guard. Later he also donated the present Officers' Club building.

Camp Grayling proper consists of about 32,000 acres surrounding Lake Margrethe in Crawford County. Adjoining the camp area on the west are 5,000 acres of land located in Kalkaska County, while northeast of the camp proper lies another 37,000 acres of land, more than 5,000 acres of which are situated in Osceola County. This area is known familiarly as the Frederic Artillery Range. In Charlevoix County far to the northwest are some 2,500 acres of land recently acquired by the State Military Establishment to be used as anti-aircraft artillery range. Practically all of the land that makes up the military reservation, with the exception of the original grant, is state delinquent tax property.

A Million Dollar Camp—
Cost of the 1948 encampment of the Michigan National Guard is estimated at nearly a million dollars in Federal funds. Pay roll for both the Army and Air units of the Guard runs over $600,000. Food for the more than 7,000 Guardsmen costs more than $148,000. Fuel for the 65 aircraft and more than 1,000 vehicles of the Guard costs approximately $85,000. Remainder of the money is spent on commercial transportation, medical and communication services and other miscellaneous items. Every community in the state supporting a National Guard unit will benefit from this million dollar encampment.

Seis Record—
Camp strength of the Michigan National Guard is 479 officers and 6,203 enlisted men, making this the largest encampment in the history of the Guard. Largest number of men to train in the Guard at this reservation in previous years was only 4,600, just prior to the war.

In addition, there are 38 Reserve Officers, ranging in grade from second lieutenant to major, serving on temporary active duty with the units of the 46th Division at the present encampment. At nearby Grayling Airport, another 600 members of the Air National Guard wound up their summer field training. On hand to aid in the training of the record number of Guardsmen were 52 Regular Army officers and non-commissioned officers under the capable direction of Colonel Edward R. Roberts, Senior Army instructor.

From 40 Cities—
Present at the 1948 encampment of the Michigan National Guard were citizen-soldiers from over 40 communities in the state's upper and lower peninsulas. Included among these two-score communities are: Adrian, Alpena, Alma, Ann Arbor, Battle Creek, Bay City, Big Rapids, Cadillac, Calumet, Charlotte, Cheboygan, Coldwater, Dearborn, Detroit, Escanaba, Flint, Grand Haven, Grand Ledge, Grand Rapids, Greenville, Holland, Howell, Ionia, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Lansing, Lincoln Park, Marquette, Midland, Monroe, Muskegon, Owosso, Pontiac, Port Huron, Romulus, Royal Oak, Saginaw, South Haven, Sault Ste. Marie and Ypsilanti.

Big Moving Job—
Almost 200 railroad cars and more than 1,000 motor vehicles of all types were used to transport the 6,700 officers and men of Camp Grayling for the encampment of the Michigan National Guard. Twenty-five separate trains moved 3,485 troops to Grayling. The remainder traveled in motor convoys, converging on Grayling from all the major communities of the state. More (Continued on Page Six)

Grayling Schools To Open September 8th

Draft Registration Starts Monday

25-Year Olds First In Line

Alfred Hanson, chairman of the Crawford County Selective Service Board announced this week that Clarence Johnson will act as clerk for the board.

The draft board will be in the basement of the Grayling American Legion Post Building, where Mr. Johnson will conduct the registering of the county's draft-age youth. Office hours at the new draft office will be from 8 A. M. until 5 P. M., it was announced. Other members of the board are Charles E. Moore, secretary, and James Post. Carl Doroh is the appeal agent.

The first men to be taken for induction will be the 25-year-olds, according to Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey. Other age groups will be taken in order of their registration, he said.

He stated that approximately 5,000 men will be processed in the first six months of the program, beginning with the 25-year-olds and working down through those in the 22-year age brackets. Out of the 5,000 men to be processed in age groups 22-25 inclusive, Hershey estimated that only about 70,000 would be actually subject to peacetime service of 21 months. He called attention to the fact that deferments for various reasons would cut down the number of men available.

Registration of the 25-year-olds starts August 30. Successive age groups will register in September, ending with the 18-year-olds on Sept. 13.

Hershey stressed that all men in the 18-25 age brackets must register, unless they are on active duty in the armed services. Veterans and members of the National Guard and other reserve units are required to register, he said. He added that selective service has not yet written regulations to govern deferments.

Monday's registration will be for all youths born in 1923; August 30, 1922. On August 31 and September 1, all youths born in 1923 will be processed and on September 2 and 3 those born in 1924 with those born in 1925 being signed up on September 4 and 5. On September 6 and 9, the 1926 birth year youths will register with the 1927 class being processed on September 10 and 11. The 1928 class will register on September 13 and 14 with the 1929 birth year youths signing up on September 15 and 16. On September 17 and 18, all youths born in 1930 prior to September 19, 1930, will register to end up the peacetime service registration.

Plan New Polio Center

Crawford County will be one of 22 northern Michigan counties to be served by a new Polio Center located at James Decker to word received here today from the Grand Traverse County chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

The new center, which will be made possible through a contribution of $200 from local infantile paralysis chapter plus similar contributions from 21 neighboring chapters, will be completed as soon as new equipment can be purchased to augment present facilities. The center, which will be located at James Decker Munson Hospital, will house new equipment totaling $5,000 in value, and will offer polio patients the finest treatment available, according to the announcement.

The new center will be held Friday, August 27, from 1 to 5 P. M., and the public is invited to visit the department and tour the facilities. State and national officials of the Infantile Paralysis Foundation will be hosts at tea during the afternoon, and Roy E. Briggman, head of Munson Hospital's physical therapy department will conduct demonstrations of the polio equipment.

22 county chapters which have contributed toward making the center possible are: Alpena, Antrim, Benzie, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Crawford, Emmet, Grand Traverse, Kalkaska, Lake, Leelanau, Manistee, Mason, Mecosta, Missaukee, Montmorency, Newaygo, Osceola, Presque Isle, Roscommon and Wexford.

Included in the equipment to be procured under the new program are wall pulleys, 12 pairs of crutches, bar bells, stationary bicycles, paxer (muscle stimulator), wrist rotators, baker, ultra-violet lamp whirlpool, short wave machine adjustable crutches, DeKa machines, rhythmic constrictor, and paraffin bath. Plans also call for the procurement of two iron lungs, to be added to the one already in use, plus additional hot pack material to augment the supply now on hand.

He faced a special session of Circuit Court here last Wednesday before Circuit Judge John Shaffer after he was bound over to Circuit Court from Justice Court by Justice Emil Justling on Tuesday.

Oberlin, who was in Grayling with the National Guard, is accused of slugging and robbing two Guard corporals while in the company of two other National Guardsmen. The other two soldiers were under seventeen years of age and were turned over to the Juvenile Court.

Oberlin was turned over to the civil authorities by the Guard and was represented at the examination and special session of Circuit Court by F. Ned Hand, assistant prosecutor. Macomb County, who was also encamped with the Guard.

Oberlin stood mute before Shaffer who entered a not guilty plea for him. He ordered him held under a $500 bond for trial during the October term. Oberlin has since furnished the bond and was released until the October trial.

Federalizing The Guard ? ?

A proposal has now come forth to bring the various State Guard organizations under full Federal control. It should not shock anyone who has been about the last few years to watch the Federal Government euvre the States out of nearly every right that they ever did call their own.

But let's look at the record—

The National Guard Regiments in the last two World conflicts chalked up records that should make the regular Army soldier go hide his face. Remember that in every case, these Regiments were State controlled and State trained, they were not professional soldiers.

The Federal Government already holds a great deal of power over the State Guard Divisions through the National Guard Bureau at Washington. This Bureau checks the training and facilities that the State organizations receive and rightly so. This is fine, we feel, as it keeps the State Guard on their toes and it also brings top training hints from one section of the country to another.

The Federal Government also hold the major share of the State Guard's purse strings as they pay the big share of each training period.

The Governor can call our troops out in the event of civil strife, riots, floods or other disasters to protect the citizens of the state. Under the new proposed setup only the President can do so. It is well within the realm of all of our knowledge of two affairs in Michigan when it was a good thing that our troops were on the job at once and not after a 3 or 4 day conference to see if they were needed.

Probably the proponents of this new plan have the highest ideals in mind when they propose it. But—it is not sound; it is not democratic; it takes from each State a right which is inherent; it smacks of further Federalism.—R.W.S.

Archers Bag
386 Deer

On the basis of 1,850 returns from a random sample of 1947 archery deer hunters polled by mail, the Conservation Department game division has computed the 1947 archery kill as 386 deer, about evenly divided between antlered bucks and antlerless deer. One archer in 20 brought home the venison, the survey indicates.

Of the 8,158 persons who bought archery deer hunting licenses, an estimated 7,801 actually hunted. By regions they had this ratio of success: 612 archers in the Upper Peninsula got 22 bucks, seven does, no fawns; in Northern Lower Michigan 5,208 hunters got 135 bucks, 148 does, nine buck fawns and 14 doe fawns; in Southern Michigan 1,883 hunters got 40 bucks, nine does and four buck fawns, mostly in Allegan County. These figures are based on the questionnaire returns. Seventeen counties, besides Allegan, were open to antlerless deer hunting by archers last year.

Ten of the archers replying said they shot bears.

The postcard poll was necessary because the normal license stub return did not indicate the distribution of the kill between bucks, does and fawns.

3-Minute Fiction

"Thank you, mum, but whenever I see a bird that needs
trimming—"
"Why don't you take the easy,
Mr. Brown, it isn't as if you were a 'red head'."
"I like to keep moving, get out!"
"Get you what? What? Well—honestly—"

"You poor man, there's some in the kitchen," Mrs. Jenkins rose, giving him a look that said she was proving false, and swept in. Mr.
Brown, on the other hand, was sitting on the edge of his seat, his knee and extended his hand toward the paper. Mr. Jenkins stirred.
Brown straightened and took a long step to the rail. He stooped over, slipping the blades as two sleep-weighted eyes unblinded. Then the screen door creaked.

"Leonard's nice and cold, Mr.
Brown."
The man took the glass, emptied
it in a swallow. "Thank you, Mrs. Jenkins."
Duke had deepened, and Mr.
Jenkins raved. "Reckon I'll turn in. Gosh, spray the apple trees tomorrow."
"Don't forget to call on Sheriff Dawson," said Mrs. Jenkins.
The clip clip stopped. Then Mr.
Jenkins said: "I'll be over to see him tomorrow and before he sells that white horse of his to someone else."

Again, the sound of the blades.
Mr. Jenkins opened the door. Mrs.
Jenkins sat alone, framed by the light of the lamp in the kitchen behind her. "Mr. Brown, you can't work in the dark. Mr. Jenkins won't mind if you sit in his chair."
"You're okay—very kind." He placed down the sheets and took the chair in the shadows. His fingers touched the paper.

"When I was a girl, Mr. Brown,
I loved him! Would you believe it,
I went to a barn dance every week
and with a different beau each time!
And plaid and harrides, I couldn't be tied down now. But today—I reckon I should be thankful but it does get so tiresome with nothing over happening."

The man said, "It's been nice—taking care of the business. I'll miss that. I'm certain—leaving tonight.
And on the day following she won."

Give Hints For Return To School

School days! School days!

Whether your child sings those words or means them depends a great deal upon you, the parents.

Little things that may not seem important to you are vital to your child's happiness and success in school.

Newsman who has had a great deal of experience instructing children in the Michigan State college nursery school reviews a few pointers for parents.

Whether your child is going to school for the first time or just starting back after summer vacation, there is likely to be some dread mixed with his anticipation of school. He needs some "props" to help him get through.

First, a healthy and rested are of first importance to him. This means that the needs to be adjusted to a routine schedule before school starts and doesn't come back from late late the night before he starts school.

New clothes are a helpful boost to a child's morale. Remember that it is important to him to be like the gang to be sure that his clothes follow their pattern rather than what you think he "should" wear. Respect his judgment about school equipment, too.

Another pointer — just before school starts isn't a good time for a radical change in a child's appearance. Braids cut off, a new frizzy permanent, new braces on the teeth — are no help for first appearances. The comment from another child, "gee, you look different!" may be quite upsetting.

Be sure he gets to school on time. Walking in late could be very embarrassing to him. And don't go with him or take him unless he wants you to. Let him feel independent — he probably is thinking of what the "other kids" will say.

their National Guard training at a state-owned camp.

There are 309 permanent buildings located in the encampment area.

Over 2,000 tents have been erected to house the troops, supplies, and equipment of the Guard.

Camp Grayling also includes an Armored Training Center, located in the west corner of the Reservation.

Plans call for increasing the facilities of this camp to accommodate the entire 48th Division at full strength, nearly 15,000 troops.

Full authorized and distributed includes 228 Army and Air units and 24,700 officers and men.

The history of the Michigan National Guard extends back to a period even prior to the origin of the state itself.

The Federal Government furnishes the uniforms, equipment, supplies and pay for the Michigan National Guard, while the State is charged with providing armories and recruiting personnel.

The Michigan National Guard has for its use over $75,000,000 worth of Federal property, including guns, tanks, motor vehicles, airplanes uniforms and various other types of military equipment.
